CLP Brings Tuen Ng Festive Joy to 200 Elderly People

CLP Power Hong Kong Limited (CLP Power) today invited 200 elderly people from the Wong Tai Sin and Sham Shui Po districts to celebrate the Tuen Ng Festival with CLP volunteers at a Sharing the Festive Joy event aimed at promoting care and respect for senior citizens in the community.

CLP Power Managing Director Mr Paul Poon and Secretary for Food and Health Dr Ko Wing-man officiated at the event, which included a dragon dance by CLP volunteers to wish good health and fortune to the guests. The event was supported by East Kowloon District Residents' Committee and Sham Lai Residents' Service Centre.

In his welcoming remarks, Mr Poon said: "CLP and its volunteers together with a variety of community partners have invited more than 1,000 elderly people to celebrate a number of festivals since the launch of this meaningful programme last year. We sincerely hope these kinds of activities can bring warmth and comfort to the elderly, as well as promoting community spirit and generating positive energy in our society."

Dr Ko appreciated the programme for its care to the senior citizens. "The government has launched a raft of policies to help elderly people in need. Today's event shows the love and care for the elderly of CLP volunteers and helps senior citizens expand their social horizons."

Caring for the community is one of the core values of CLP. As well as the Sharing the Festive Joy programme, the company recently launched an Elderly Yum Cha programme, distributing 120,000 breakfast coupons to around 30,000 elderly people to allow them to claim free dim sum breakfasts in designated restaurants. Another community programme, Power Your Love, is a world-first initiative encouraging customers to save energy and transfer the units of electricity saved to help people in need, including single elderly people.
