CLP Power Hong Kong LimitedLatest Update on Power Incident at Shui Pin Wai Estate in Yuen Long

CLP Power Hong Kong Limited (CLP Power) has been closely following up on the recent power incident at Shui Pin Wai Estate in Yuen Long, and would like to provide the latest update as follows:

According to preliminary investigation, a fault occurred in the 11kV power supply system in Yuen Long at 4:22am on 11 August, affecting the power supply to around 2,400 customers at Shui Pin Wai Estate and nearby areas. After the incident, CLP Power's engineering team immediately went to the site to assess the situation and carry out emergency repairs. A combination of power restoration measures was adopted, including power restoration via remote switching, deployment of mobile generators, and installation of a temporary high-voltage cable, with the aim of restoring electricity supply in the fastest and most effective manner. Following these emergency repair efforts, power supply to all affected customers was restored at 10:45am on the same day.

Preliminary investigation also indicates that, the incident is suspected to be related to interference from third-party works. The exact cause is subject to further confirmation, and CLP Power will continue to follow up.

At 10:31pm on the same day, supply fluctuation occurred on the temporary power circuit at Shui Pin Wai Estate, affecting the power supply to around 2,200 customers in the estate. As electricity supply to the buildings concerned was maintained through a temporary power circuit, the system was relatively more sensitive to variations in electricity demand, which is preliminarily considered to be one of the factors leading the supply fluctuation. Following emergency repairs and power restoration via remote switching, the power supply to all affected customers was restored within 30 minutes.

Repair works were completed on the afternoon of 12 August. CLP Power will further reinforce the power circuit concerned to strengthen supply reliability and grid resilience.

CLP Power apologises for the inconvenience caused to the affected customers, and appreciates the support and understanding of residents, Government departments, community leaders, Community Care Teams and property management company.
